Tree Tagging Baseline Data

1.1 Introduction

1.1.1 The Appendix contains the baseline tree tagging data which was used to assess potential tree loss within the Ness Woods Special Area of Conservation (SAC) within Dell Estate. The Ness Woods SAC is designated for the following qualifying features:

- Tilio-Acerion forests of slopes, screes and ravines (Primary reason for selection, common name: mixed woodland on base-rich soils associated with rocky slopes);
- Old sessile oak woods with Ilex and Blechnum in the British Isles (common name: western acidic oak woodland); and
- Otter (Lutra lutra).

1.1.2 Ness Woods SAC is also designated as a Site of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI). Easter Ness Forest SSSI is designated for:

- Upland mixed ash woodland (Unfavourable, no change); and
- Upland oak woodland (Unfavourable, no change)

1.1.3 The locations and species of over 2,400 individual trees within and in close proximity to the working corridor of the Proposed Development within Ness Woods SAC were recorded in summer 2022 and spring/summer 2023, as illustrated in Annex A, Figure 10.5.1a and Figure 10.5.1b. Additional tree tagging was also undertaken in areas of native woodland adjacent to the Ness Woods SAC within Dell Estate, to help identify areas of existing woodland that could be managed to SAC standard as part of a compensatory measures package for the Ness Woods SAC, as illustrated in Annex A, Figure 10.5.1a and Figure 10.5.1b. Further details are provided in Section 1.2.

1.1.4 The stem diameter of a random selection of 30 trees along the proposed access track corridor within the Ness Woods SAC was also taken to estimate an average root protection area (RPA) that would need to be applied to trees within the woodland. These measurements were undertaken in line with 'British Standard 5837:2012 Trees in Relation to Design'¹. Further details are provided in Section 1.3.

1.1.5 The purpose of this survey work was to inform infrastructure micro-siting, and to collect detailed information of all trees that would be affected by the Proposed Development within Ness Woods SAC, to inform the impact assessment detailed in Volume 1, Chapter 10: Terrestrial Ecology of the EIA Report and the assessment of potential adverse impacts on the woodland qualifying feature of the Ness Woods SAC, as detailed in the standalone Shadow Habitats Regulation Assessment (HRA). The tree tags were also used to identify the host trees of lichen species within the Ness Woods SAC, as detailed in Volume 4, Appendix 10.3: Lichen Survey Report of the EIA Report. The average RPA was used to estimate the additional number of trees outside (but in close to proximity to) the Working Corridor within the Ness Woods SAC that could be lost or degraded due to potential loss or root damage.

¹ The British Standards Institution (2012): British Standard 5837:2012 Trees in Relation to Design

- 1.1.6 The Shadow HRA determines that adverse effects on the integrity of the Ness Woods SAC cannot be ruled out, with residual effects likely to result in undermining conservation objectives for the SAC's two woodland qualifying features (Tilio-Acerion forests of slopes, screes and ravines and Old sessile oak woods with Ilex and Blechnum in the British Isles). Therefore, to assist the competent authority in their decision on whether the Proposed Development can be justified for IROPI and whether compensatory measures can be secured, a Derogation Report, which includes a Compensatory Measures Package for the Ness Woods SAC, is also included as a standalone document to the section 36 application. The tree tagging data presented in this appendix has therefore also been used to inform the Compensatory Measures Package for the Ness Woods SAC.

1.2 Tree Tagging Data

- 1.2.1 Table 10.5.1: Tree Tagging Data Overview provides an overview of the tree tagging data collected in summer 2022 and spring/summer 2023 within or adjacent to the Ness Woods SAC. The full set of tree tagging data is included in Annex B: Tree Tagging Data.

1.3 Root Protection Area Information

1.3.1 Table 10.5.2: Tree Stem Diameters provides a summary of the tree stem diameter data collected within the Ness Woods SAC and the RPA radius and total area calculated for each tree. In line with the guidance provided in 'British Standard 5837:2012 Trees in Relation to Design'¹, the stem diameter was taken 1.5 m above ground level. For trees with more than one stem, the diameter of each stem was taken, and a combined stem diameter was calculated using one of the two calculation methods. For trees with two to five stems, the combined stem diameter was calculated as follows¹:

$$\sqrt{(\text{stem diameter } 1)^2 + (\text{stem diameter } 2)^2 \dots + (\text{stem diameter } 5)^2}$$

1.3.2 For trees with more than five stems, the combined stem diameter was calculated as follows¹:

$$\sqrt{(\text{mean stem diameter})^2 \times \text{number of stems}}$$

1.3.3 The RPA was calculated as an area equivalent to a circle with a radius 12 times the stem (or combined stem) diameter from the base of the stem.

- 1.3.4 For the purposes of assessing the potential impacts on trees and their roots within the Ness Woods SAC, an average RPA was calculated using the values provided in Table 10.5.3: RPA Range and Average. Given that both the mean and the median RPA radius of the 30-tree sample could be rounded to 4 m, this was determined as an appropriate distance from the Working Corridor where trees within the Ness Woods SAC would be considered within the assessment as lost or degraded, due to potential loss or damage to roots.
